Did you know?

Northfield Centre was built in 1892 by George and Elizabeth Cadbury as a friends meeting house. Have you spotted the entwined monograms of George and his wife Elizabeth engraved in the wall of the building? Records show that the building has been used for education from as early as 1919.

Northfield Centre is a short walk from the Bristol Road and Northfield High Street with its many shops and cafés. Look out for community events that take place at the centre and make sure you see the beautiful garden.
